Awards, Grants, Funded Projects

Andrews Forest Long-Term Ecological Research Program. The LTER program is funded by the National Science Foundation at ~1.2 million dollars per year. I served as Lead PI from 2012 to 2022. Occasional supplemental grants through LTER/NSF come in to support information management, education, equipment, research efforts, etc.. Total leveraged research ~4-7 million dollars per year.
US Forest Service Pacific Northwest Research Station, Civil Rights Advisory Group, Research with Underserved Communities Fund grant, “Identifying Barriers of Diversity and Inclusion in Forestry: Insights from Philosophy, and Actions for Remediation,” 2017-2020, with B. Penaluna, $50,000.
Dissertation Enhancement Grant, National Science Foundation, 2017-19, with C. Batavia, ~$36,000.
Outstanding Faculty Member Award, Dept. of Forest Ecosystems and Society, Oregon State University, 2018.
Outstanding Faculty Member Award, Dept. of Forest Ecosystems and Society, Oregon State University, 2016.
“RipA. Forest Structure and Bottom-up Drivers of Fish Production in Headwater Streams,” 2012-14, with D. Warren and I. Arismendi. Lead-PI. College of Forestry Fish and Wildlife Grant. ~$78,000.
“Cross-site Analysis and Synthesis of Arts and Humanities Engagement within LTER,” 2013, with F. Swanson, M.B. Leigh, L. Goralnik, and H. Gosnell. Lead-PI. LTER network award, ~$32,000.
“Improving the effectiveness of wolf management in Michigan,” 2011, with M. Gore, J. Vucetich, P. Lederle, and M. Lute. Co-PI. Michigan Department of Natural Resources, ~$167,000.

2011 Excellence Award in Interdisciplinary Scholarship, from the Michigan State University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, for the Conservation Ethics Group.

Two 2010 ForeWord Review Awards [Gold Medal, Anthology; Bronze Medal, Environment] for Moral Ground: Ethical Action for a Planet in Peril, co-edited with K.D. Moore (Trinity University Press, 2010).

Intramural Research Grant from Michigan State University, 2009, $25,000.

Lyman Briggs College Nominee for University Teacher/Scholar Award, Michigan State University, 2008.

Environmental Ethics component of NSF REU Grant: Ecology of Invasive Species and Small Populations, University of Idaho, (PIs) J. Rachlow and C. Peery, $229,000 total for 2008-10.

Collaborator on S. Riley's Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station umbrella project associated with wildlife health and disease, Michigan State University, 2007-2010.

University of Idaho, grant team member on 4 internal grants - Strategic Initiative in Waters of the West, Strategic Initiative in Sustainable Communities, Strategic Initiative in Ethics, and Strategic Initiative in Sustainability, 2006.

Writer in Residence Fellowship, Long Term Ecological Reflections project, H.J. Andrews Experimental Forest, OR, sponsored by the US Forest Service and the Spring Creek Project, 2006.

University of Idaho, Bureau of Public Affairs Research Grant, 2006-07.

University of Idaho, Travel Grant, 2006.

Idaho Humanities Council Research Fellowship, 2006.

University of Idaho, Bureau of Public Affairs Research Grant, 2005-06.

University of Idaho, University Research Council, $10,000 Seed Grant, 2005-06.

Writer in Residence Fellowship, Mesa Refuge, Point Reyes, CA, 2003.

University Excellence in Teaching Award, UWSP, 2002.

Nominated for University Scholar Award, UWSP, 1998-99 and 1999-2000, 2003-04.

Faculty inductee in Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society, UWSP, 2001.

Teacher/Scholar in Residence Award, UWSP, 2001.

Nominated for Excellence in Teaching Award, UWSP, 1998-99, 2000-2001, 2001-2002.

UWSP Foundation Grant, Spring 2000, Spring 2001.

University Personnel Development Committee Grant, UWSP, Summer 1996.

Special University/Departmental Service

Oregon State University

Lead Principle Investigator, Andrews Forest Long-Term Ecological Research Program, 2012-present.

Acting Department Head, occasional, 2014-present.
